The Secrets of a Very Long Life

1 There are several places in the world that are famous for people who live a very long time. Doctors, scientists and public health experts often travel to these regions to solve the mystery of a long, healthy life and hope to bring to the modern world the secrets of longevity.

2 Hunza is high in the Himalayan mountains. There, many people over one hundred years of age are still in good physical health. Men of ninety are new fathers and women of fifty still have babies.

3 There are amazing examples in the Caucasus Mountains, too. The people not only live a long time but they also live well: they are almost never sick, and when they die, they have not only their own teeth but also a full head of hair and good eyesight. Vilcabamba, in Ecuador, is another area famous for the longevity of its inhabitants. This region is also in high mountains, far away from cities. Is that the secret?

4 Most scientists think inhabitants in the three regions have more in common than natural food, their mountains and their distance from modern cities. Because they live in the countryside and are mostly farmers, their lives are physically hard. Thus, they do not need to go to health clubs because they get a lot of exercise in their daily work. In addition, although their lives are hard, these people do not seem to have the worries of city people. Their lives are quiet.

Answer the following questions according to the text.

1. Why do doctors and scientists travel to certain places in the world?
2. Who will benefit from their research?
3. Give three examples showing that old people living in these places enjoy good physical health.
4. What do these regions have in common?
5. According to experts, what are the main reasons for the long lives and good health of the inhabitants of these areas?
